In September 2009 we brought you Parts I and II of the Taxation and Economic Reform in America archive. History of Bankruptcy is Part III of this database, which focuses on bankruptcy in America. Part III includes:

- More than 420,000 pages of legislative histories, treatises, documents, and more related to bankruptcy law in America
- Classic books dating back to the late 1700s

Despite the recovery of the U.S. economy, defaults continue. HeinOnline's History of Bankruptcy brings this foundation to your fingertips, allowing you to search across bankruptcy materials dating back to 1743!

Like all other databases in HeinOnline, this collection will continue to grow! We will continue adding more books, legislative histories, documents, monographs, and treatises to build upon both the historic and current development of bankruptcy laws in America.
