Cheryl Nyberg's Subject Compilations of State Laws has long been recognized as the most comprehensive source for identifying thousands of articles, books, government documents, loose-leaf services, court opinions and Internet sites that compare state laws on hundreds of subjects. The first volume, 1960-1979, compiled by Lynn Foster and Carol Boast, won the AALL Joseph L. Andrews Bibliographical Award in 1982. Also, in 2009 the database version of this collection won the 2009 AALL Best New Product Award. The series has been previously chosen for Best Legal Reference Books and has been called "unique," "priceless" and "irreplaceable."

Subject Compilations of State Laws Series

The Subject Compilations Bibliography Series has long been recognized as the most comprehensive source for identifying thousands of articles, books, government documents, loose-leaf services, court opinions and Internet sites that compare state laws on hundreds of subjects. The series has been previously chosen for Best Legal Reference Books and has been called “unique,” “priceless” and “irreplaceable.”

Each volume features annotated material, including law review and other periodical articles, appellate court opinions, books, briefs from cases before the U.S. Supreme Court and other federal and state courts, commercial database contents, federal and state government publications, looseleaf services, and websites.

About the Author

Cheryl Rae Nyberg is the Coordinator of Reference Services at the Marian Gould Gallagher Law Library, University of Washington. She is also the content manager for the Gallagher Law Library website.

About the Database

This HeinOnline database has revolutionized historical state subject searching. Researchers have instantaneous access to more than 25,000 bibliographic records, many with extensive annotations. There is no longer a need to browse the twenty-plus print volumes in the series.

Most importantly, the annotations link directly to articles and other documents residing in HeinOnline. In all, more than 12,000 records link to HeinOnline periodicals, while the majority of other records link to case law or external websites.

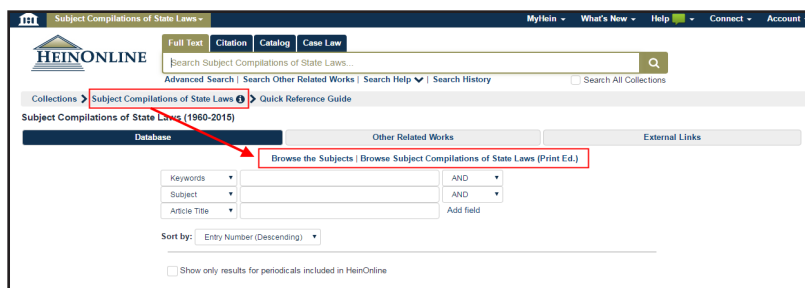

Also included in this collection is the State Law Index: An Index and Digest to the Legislation of the States of the United States Enacted During the Biennium, volumes 1-12 (1925-1948). This index, published biennially by the Legislative Reference Service of the Library of Congress, is a valuable source for identifying, by subject, session laws enacted by the various states during the years involved.

Additional advantages:

- Quickly access the subject headings recommended by the authors
- Frequent updating of the database
- Exact replicas of the original bound volumes are included
- All material is fully searchable

Searching the Database

The Subject Compilations of State Laws database can be either browsed or searched. Choose this collection from the HeinOnline Welcome Page, and browse the subjects or the full print run:

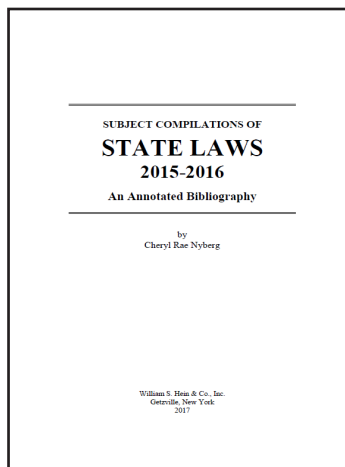

Available subjects include Abandoned Property, Child Support, Fair Housing, Racial Discrimination, and hundreds more. Clicking on any subject reveals all relevant bibliographic records in the database:

The bibliographic records provide information about each title, related subjects, and links to content when available via HeinOnline or on the web. For example, this article is available in the Law Journal Library:

The database is also fully searchable using metadata fields such as keywords, subject, article title, and more. Use the optional checkbox to display only results available in HeinOnline periodicals:

For instance, a keyword search for the phrase "animal welfare" produces results related to animal law and animal cruelty:
