Building Stronger Research Together!

NEW HEINONLINE DATABASES

Military and Government | June 2021

Included in U.S. and Canadian HeinOnline Core subscriptions at no additional charge! This database allows users to research the functions of the federal government in administering these essential armed forces, as well as the issues confronting service personnel both on and off the battlefield.

NOMOS: American Society for Political and Legal Philosophy | February 2021

Included in all HeinOnline Core subscriptions at no additional charge! This highly regarded series from the American Society for Political and Legal Philosophy includes scholarly works from some of the leading political and legal theorists of the 20th and 21st centuries, from a wide range of ideological perspectives. NOMOS can also be found within the Law Journal Library with a two-year embargo.

Civil Rights and Social Justice | October 2020

Free to HeinOnline Core subscribers and any interested organizations! This database brings together a diverse offering of publications covering civil rights in the United States as their legal protections and definitions are expanded to cover more and more Americans. Included in the HeinOnline Social Justice Suite.

Hackney Publications | September 2020

Hackney Publications provide an in-depth legal analysis of sports law issues, mission-critical information to sport industry professionals, and practical advice to lead to great business decisions. HeinOnline is pleased to announce the addition of nine new Hackney publications in addition to the three titles introduced in 2017.

Executive Privilege | August 2020

Included in select U.S. and Canadian Core Subscriptions at no additional charge! This database brings users comprehensive resources for primary and secondary material relating to executive privilege. Extensive metadata indexing within the database allows for unique browse options and a custom search index.

COVID-19: Pandemics Past and Present | August 2020

Included in all HeinOnline Core Subscriptions at no additional charge! This database analyzes government response to COVID-19 and other pandemics, as well as their effect on public health, economics, society, and the world with authoritative government reports and scholarly articles.

American Enterprise Institute | June 2020

This database brings AEI's collection of scholarship to HeinOnline's fully searchable image-based format. Unique to this collection is the ability to search by Policy Area, a subject identifier assigned by AEI to each of its publications.

LibGuides Project Continues | OnGoing project

HeinOnline continues to create database-specific LibGuides for training and reference purposes.

For undergraduate and graduate students conducting interdisciplinary research involving legal information, HeinOnline offers authentic and more comprehensive information than what can be found in the open web. HeinOnline is easy to use and provides both keyword and citation searches in all collections as well as unique search tools for primary source collections, making it unique among competitors. HeinOnline also offers superb support and fantastic user and librarian tools.

Winners of the 2021 Joseph L. Andrews Legal Literature Award

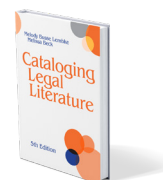

This award recognizes a significant textual contribution to legal literature. The textual work may be a book, pamphlet, periodical contribution, website, database, or publication in some other format. Nominations for the Andrews Award shall be measured by the creative, evaluative elements and the extent to which originality and judgment were factors in the formation of the work. The term 'legal literature' is meant to be broadly defined, and includes works that: 1) are bibliographical in nature, listing the works of a particular author, printer, or country, or a particular theme; or 2) contribute to the body of legal literature and that also contribute to advancing legal research or law librarianship.

Cataloging Legal Literature, 5th Edition

Print and Online Resource

By Melody Busse Lembke and Melissa Beck

Cataloging Legal Literature, 5th ed. (CLL5) describes the authors' understanding of the current descriptive and subject cataloging practices for legal materials. It addresses the needs of large and small law libraries alike, particularly those who wish to follow national cataloging standards, including the Library of Congress and the Program for Cooperative Cataloging. CLL5 addresses RDA instructions and terminology as found in both the current RDA Toolkit and its Beta Site.

The Leaven of Sympathy: A Bio-Bibliography of Frederick C. Hicks

By Douglas W. Lind and Stacia Stein

In a world where technology advances appear daily, deans and provosts often have questions about law libraries, their purposes, and whether technological innovations should lead to changes in library spaces, collections, and/or services. This book seeks to answer those questions, which came straight from deans, examining the factors involved in an analysis of what a community needs from their library, and demonstrating why the answer to these questions might vary from library to library.

Academic Law Libraries Within the Changing Landscape of Legal Education: A Primer for Deans and Provosts

Edited by Michelle M. Wu, Scott B. Pagel, and Joan Howland

Filling a gap in the bibliographic and biographical literature of Frederick C. Hicks, The Leaven of Sympathy is an annotated bibliography of the works of the seminal law librarian. Drawing its title from Hicks' beloved Men and Books Famous in the Law, this work provides the most thorough accounting of Hicks' works to date, touching upon many aspects of the history of legal education, law (and general) library history, and Association history. It contains a full timeline of the life of Frederick C. Hicks, a robust biographical preface, which includes an excerpt from a little-known essay Hicks composed in his retirement, and nearly 160 entries organized chronologically and annotated with biographical references, footnotes, and cross-references.

Our library is excited to provide our patrons with access to HeinOnline Academic for a number of reasons:

1. Outstanding collection of law and law-related journals
2. Excellent coverage of U.S. congressional content, which allowed us to cancel several expensive subscriptions (saving thousands of dollars per year)
3. Exceptional coverage of federal law and regulations
4. Access to specialized collections (e.g. Religion and the Law, Women and the Law) which are of interest to a growing number of researchers on our campus
5. Last, but not least - outstanding communication with HeinOnline representatives during all phases of acquisition, from initial trial through online and face-to-face demonstrations, license negotiation and contract-signing

This is an outstanding resource which we anticipate will get great use from our paralegal, public affairs, and political science researchers, but also such from a wide variety of users from a wide variety of academic departments on our campus.
