Indian Tribal Codes: A Microfiche Collection of Indian Tribal Law Codes, 1981 Edition and 1988 Edition

Professor John Ralph Johnson, Susan Lupton & Richard Davies, Editors

The 1981 and 1988 editions of Indian Tribal Codes: A Microfiche Collection of Indian Tribal Law Codes are edited by Ralph Johnson, Susan Lupton, and Richard Davies, and published by the Marian Gould Gallagher Law Library at the University of Washington School of Law. This impressive collection contains nearly 30,000 pages of tribal law. The two editions offer insight into the historical development of Indian tribal codes over time. Both editions include Tribal Constitutions and similar constitutional-type documents, and the updated 1988 edition also includes analyses of trends in coverage, enactments, and amendments of tribal codes since 1981.

Indian Tribal Codes: A Microfiche Collection, 1981 Edition

Ralph W. Johnson, editor; Susan Lupton, associate editor. This edition contains sixty-nine tribal codes and an excellent introduction to and analysis of tribal codes.

Indian Tribal Codes: A Microfiche Collection, 1988 Edition

Ralph W. Johnson, editor; Richard Davies, associate editor. This work contains fifty-six tribal codes and constitutions, but is more extensive than the first edition. Introduction and analysis of tribal codes are provided, as well as indexes of specific subject codifications within individual codes. This edition updates, but does not replace, the 1981 edition.

American Indian Law Collection

Native American Treaties - Now includes comprehensive coverage!

The American Indian Law Collection now includes a comprehensive list of 418 Native American treaties, which are primarily derived from the Kappler index published in U.S. Statutes at Large. Charles Kappler, the clerk of the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs, began compiling these treaties as well as laws concerning only Indians in 1903. His compilation is commonly known as “Kappler.” Of HeinOnline’s comprehensive index of 418 Native American treaties, 416 of them include full text coverage. HeinOnline also contains nine additional agreements not identified by Kappler, seven of which were with Great Britain and still recognized by the United States today.

To access these treaties, simply click on the Native American Treaties subcollection tab found on the American Indian Law Collection’s landing page. Browse treaties by their Tribe name or date. Click the name of a treaty to view more information. The treaties may contain a link to its U.S. Statutes at Large citation, the Kappler citation, and other full-text sources, as well as the following information:

- Treaty number
- Tribe(s)
- Subject(s)

Other Related Works

This database offers a number of notable works by pioneers in the history of American Indian law and other valuable titles of interest to researchers, including:

- Indian Affairs, Laws and Treaties, Vols. 1-7 (Laws: Compiled to Dec. 1, 1902-1971) by Charles J. Kappler. This publication was undertaken by Charles Kappler at the request of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Indian Affairs. This definitive resource includes acts of Congress relating to treaties concluded between the United States and Native Americans from 1902-1971 and follows the format of Statutes at Large with notes in the margins.
- Landmark Indian Law Cases: National Indian Law Library; United States 1 v. Buffalo, N.Y.: W.S. Hein, 2002. Contains 53 groundbreaking decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court in the field of federal Indian Law. The subject index of cases provides a quick reference aid, and all cases are listed under one or more relevant subject headings.
- Tribal Courts Directory, 1st-3rd Editions; Schwartz, April; Hunter, Mary Jo B., 2 v. Buffalo, N.Y.: William S. Hein & Co, 2006-2008. This publication brings together the many sources of information about Tribal Courts within the United States. In the third edition there have been some jurisdictional changes implemented, more courts established, web pages added and supplemented with Court information, and more libraries and public and private organizations linking web pages to more primary Court document and Treaties and a Table of Federal Cases.
