UNVEILING 30 YEARS OF LAW LIBRARIANSHIP: YOUR ULTIMATE RESEARCH COMPANION

The Complete Periodical Literature of Law Librarianship is a groundbreaking resource, three decades in the making, that bridges the historical depth and contemporary challenges of the profession. Curated by a father-daughter editorial team with unparalleled expertise, this searchable HeinOnline database features over 5,000 meticulously annotated articles, empowering researchers to navigate the evolution of law librarianship in the United States and Canada with ease. From its exhaustive annotations to its user-friendly platform, this transformative tool is designed to illuminate the profession's past, inform its present, and inspire its future.

Annotated indexes eliminate irrelevant results, guiding librarians straight to what matters most.

HUMAN-APPLIED ANNOTATIONS

A fully searchable bibliography of 5,000+ annotated law review articles, saving users time by streamlining research efforts.

LANDMARK ARTICLES

Leverage articles assigned by significance, including "Landmark," "Continuing Value," and "Historical Value" to quickly find relevant research.

STREAMLINED NAVIGATION

Advanced search, metadata, and significance ratings simplify finding relevant law librarianship materials by subject, audience, and importance.

The Complete Periodical Literature of Law Librarianship is a game-changing resource for anyone researching the field. Painstakingly compiled over decades by Michael J. Slinger and Sarah C. Slinger, this unparalleled tool distills and annotates over 5,000 articles spanning the history of the profession—covering every major author, topic, and era. With expertly crafted summaries, subject indexing, and evaluations of each article's significance, it dramatically simplifies the research process. As a law library historian, writer, and editor, I can't imagine tackling any issue in law librarianship without it. My only regret is that it wasn't available sooner.

ARTICLE SELECTION GUIDELINES

The following criteria were used to determine the articles included in the Complete Periodical Literature of Law Librarianship:

- 1. All scholarly articles on law librarianship topics with a United States and/or Canadian focus.
- 2. Non-scholarly law librarianship articles judged to be of practical use to law librarians, or articles that are of historical importance to law librarianship, with a United States and/or Canadian focus.
- 3. Articles on legal research or related instruction such as legal writing, authored by law librarians.
- 4. Articles on law librarianship or law library topics written by non-law librarians.
- 5. Articles on law librarianship in a foreign journal with a U.S. or Canadian focus.

Please note: Spanish-language articles that fit the above criteria, if authored by U.S. or Canadian law librarians, will be added in a future update.

Not included are:

- 1. Legal research, legal writing, or law school instruction articles written solely by non-law librarians.
- 2. Columns or regular features in non-scholarly law librarianship publications that, in the editors' judgement, are ephemeral.
- 3. Articles written by law librarians on non-law librarianship or non-legal research instruction topics.
- 4. Articles from regional law librarianship publications, such as AALL chapter publications.
- 5. Newsletter articles.
- 6. Articles on law librarianship that primarily have a foreign or international subject matter focus, unless they also have a significant comparative nexus with U.S. and/or Canadian law librarianship.
- 7. Books or book chapters.
- 8. Reports or proceedings from professional meetings unless they discuss substantive law librarianship topics.
- 9. Annotations or bibliographies or research guides are not provided.
