

Standard Federal Tax Reporter

We are pleased to announce a new partnership with Wolters Kluwer which brings enhanced access to the Standard Federal Tax Reporter. Customers of both Wolters Kluwer and Hein are sure to appreciate the value this partnership provides!

About the Standard Federal Tax Reporter

The Standard Federal Tax Reporter contains a comprehensive collection of federal income tax information, such as full text of all proposed, temporary and final federal income tax law regulations, as well as full text of federal administrative rulings and documents. Historical precedents are incredibly relevant to the formation of current regulations.

Content available from inception in 1917 through 1985

- Due to the agreement terms with Wolters Kluwer, this publication is available only to academics via subscription to HeinOnline's Taxation & Economic Reform in America Parts I and II.
- For academics who currently subscribe to HeinOnline's Taxation & Economic Reform in America Parts I and II, the Standard Federal Tax Reporter is now included in your subscription at no additional charge.
- Non-academics who subscribe to Standard Fed Plus through Wolters Kluwer are automatically able to access the archives, hosted digitally by HeinOnline, through their existing subscription.
- While we don't anticipate having to remove this content from HeinOnline, it is subject to the terms of our agreement with Wolters Kluwer. Digital ownership of Standard Federal Tax Reporter 1917-1985 is available to academic subscribers.

For more information about this database, please contact your sales representative or Marketing at marketing@wshein.com or 800-828-7571.

